Black Educator Advocates 'Positive Militancy'

By JACQUELINE KORONA

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Dr. Clifton R. Wharton Jr., an economist and foreign policy expert with a long list of "firsts" to his credit, added another when he accepted the presidency of Michigan State University.

He became the first Negro to head a major, predominantly white university.

"I'm not really a pioneer," the 43-year-old Wharton said after the MSU board of trustees appointed him Friday on a 5-3 vote.

"I have never in my career knowingly accepted a position or a job where race was the primary consideration," he has been quoted as saying.

POSITIVE MILITANCY

"In each case, the situation was one where I could utilize and demonstrate a set of skills and competencies. Meeting racism and white competition on these terms—and beating it—is what I call positive militancy."

Michigan State University, the first land-grant college in America, has a student population of more than 40,000—four per cent Negro. The faculty of some 2,000 includes 18 blacks.

Wharton will take over the presidency Jan. 2, 1970 from Dr. Walter Adams, acting MSU chief since the resignation last March of Dr. John A. Hannah. Hannah, who was chief administrator at MSU for 28 years, joined the Nixon Administration as director of the Agency for International Development (AID).

Wharton now is vice president of the Agricultural Development Council Inc., of New York. The council, a nonprofit organization formed by John D. Rockefeller III, supports teaching and research related to the economic and human problems of agricultural development, primarily in Asia.

Wharton, who said he has been on the East Lansing campus several times for lectures and seminars, is slated to return again Nov. 1 for the Spartans' homecoming football game against Indiana.

"I've been thoroughly impressed with the young people there," Wharton said. "They seem very concerned—mature with a deep interest in our society."

Wharton said he views leadership of a major university as "not the job of a single man. It's a constituent art," he said.

"My philosophy of the university is to be a constituent art."

Gulf Oil Not Paying Enough; Holdings Seized By Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia says his military government seized the Gulf Oil Corp. holdings in Bolivia because his country wasn't getting enough of the profits.

In a speech Friday night, Ovando said he was not satisfied with "the large profits it (Gulf) made compared to the modest fiscal share received by the government."

Ovando presided over the secret cabinet meeting that issued an official decree announcing the seizure and nationalization Friday. The decree said a commission will be set up to determine compensation.

WORKERS ORDERED OUT

Police and army troops occupied the La Paz offices of the Bolivian Gulf Co., and the oil fields in Santa Cruz. The office of an Oklahoma drilling company also was reported seized.

Employees were allowed to leave the properties and no incidents were reported.

"We received no warning of the takeover," a Gulf spokesman said in La Paz. "The police walked directly into the office and there was nothing we could do but leave."

Pipeline operations between Santa Cruz and the Chilean port of Arica, which move 33,000 barrels of crude oil daily for shipment to U.S. ports, were not affected.

The takeover came a year

U-M Welcomes MSU President--Cautiously

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan regents sent congratulations Friday to Michigan State University trustees on their choice of Dr. Clifton Wharton as the new MSU president.

In a resolution, the regents said: "The regents of the University of Michigan congratulate and welcome Dr. Wharton as the 14th president of Michigan State University. We congratulate the trustees on the selection of a scholar who also has a record of public service."

"We pledge anew the cooperation of this university in the mutual endeavor of serving our state and nation."

One regent suggested facetiously that the words "beginning Sunday morning" be added.

News Report Says Nixon Has Decided

U.S. Problem At Home Near 'Disaster Point'

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — President Nixon has ordered the Pentagon to work out plans for withdrawing up to 300,000 U.S. troops from Vietnam in 1970, Newsday said today in a copy-right story by columnist Flora Lewis.

The story from Washington said that according to reliable informants the president plans to announce the accelerated withdrawal program in his Nov. 3 television address.

MOBILE UNITS STAY

While many details remain to be worked out, the initial outline of the plan calls for the removal of all American combat units except two, according to the story in Newsday, a Long Island afternoon newspaper.

The columnist said the units to be left behind are the most mobile—the 1st Air Cavalry Division and the 173rd Airborne Brigade. They total between 17,000 and 18,000 men.

"The rest of an American force of between 150,000 and 200,000 men scheduled to be in Vietnam at the end of next year will be air and support troops," the story said.

Miss Lewis said the speedup of troop withdrawals was the key decision made in Nixon's meeting with the Joint Chiefs of Staff on Oct. 8.

GENERALS OPPOSED

"It goes beyond the withdrawal schedule that the President planned last August and then dropped in the face of strong opposition from the military, substituting an even more modest program which he announced in September."

"The plan reflects a shift of influence in the administration to those civilian leaders who have been arguing that domestic troubles are too near the disaster point to permit the much more gradual 'Vietnamization' that the generals wanted," Miss Lewis wrote.

Four Teens Facing Marijuana Charges

Benton Apartment Raided

Four Twin Cities area teenagers were arrested on narcotics charges early today by Berrien county sheriff's officers.

The arrests came in a raid on a four-room apartment at 933 Paw Paw avenue, Benton township. Eleven others were released after questioning.

NARCOTICS CHARGES

Taken into custody were Mark Allen Clune, 18, of 4507 Arlington drive, St. Joseph, booked on a charge of selling marijuana; James D. Shaffer, 17, of 933 Paw Paw avenue, booked for possession; and Michael Jerome (Nolff) Smith, 17, also of 933 Paw Paw avenue; and Stephen Michael Phillips, 18, of 190 Hunter drive, Benton Harbor. Smith and Phillips were booked on a charge of conspiracy to sell narcotics.

Detective Gary Methling said the arrests occurred after a police agent made a purchase of suspected narcotics in downtown Benton Harbor.

SUSPECTS TAILED

Methling said officers "tailed" suspects in the alleged sale of narcotics for about two hours. Police entered the Paw Paw avenue apartment at 3:30 a.m. after keeping it under observation for about the same length of time, the detective added. He said no search warrant was obtained. A warrant was unnecessary, he explained, because officers believed the suspected downtown seller of narcotics had gone into the apartment.

Material was confiscated at the apartment for use as evidence.

After Lord Made 'Ed,'
He Broke The Mould

Crusty, funny, brilliant "Ed" Geldhof is dead.

But his influence lingers on — and is likely to continue to for years, perhaps generations, to come.

His bequest to the community is dramatically visible. It includes some of the genius that made possible Whirlpool's beautiful administrative and research center on North Shore drive, the manufacturing plants of the St. Joseph division, the thousands of jobs for local people.

Nationwide and overseas there's a part of him in each of the manufacturing plants and sales centers in Whirlpool's burgeoning industrial empire.

And he played a key role in eliminating drudgery for over-worked housewives everywhere.

For 18 years, Geldhof was chief of engineering and research for Whirlpool. It was during his tenure in this office that the corporation designed and produced the first widely accepted automatic washing machine.

There had been other such machines before. But either they were not in truth automatic, or they tore up the clothes that they laundered.

As Whirlpool's chief engineer, Geldhof took the lead in designing a cheap, reliable automatic washer that treated its load as gently as it did the housewife who now had only to twirl a knob to get her washing done.

The skill and abilities of many employees, including Geldhof, made it possible for the local firm to produce the machine cheaply, to market it successfully.

The response was tremendous. Already a growing firm, the local company began an even more spectacular expansion that has now placed it in the billion-dollar-class of American industrial giants.

The genius of several men has made the Whirlpool "miracle" possible. To assess the exact role of one is difficult. But certain it is that Geldhof will rank high in the company's history of great contributors.

Moreover, P. Eduard Geldhof will long be remembered by his friends and associates here for his colorful individuality. Unlike the machines that he helped mass produce, he was different.

He was tall and lanky to the point of being noticeable in a crowd. He had the concentration of a born inventor, the impatience of a quick mind for fools. This could make him appear, on occasion, brusque to others, even sarcastic.

But he could also be a warm and entertaining companion, full of laughter and an insight that made the foibles of humanity or the absurdity of a situation sound uproariously funny. He was never overawed by his own importance; he reserved the right to treat everybody alike; his sometimes sharp barbs needed his powerful associates as well as those down the line.

He appeared to love machinery, his family and his church. Only Providence can now unravel in which order. But without waiting for that to be decided, his acquaintances here will remember him as a towering figure of originality and rugged independence, a man's man and his own man.

Michigan State Picks
A Negro As President

Yesterday Michigan State University became the first major university in the United States to have a Negro president.

The board of trustees, by a five to three vote, selected Dr. Clifton R. Whorter, Jr., as the East Lansing institution's 14th president.

Dr. Whorter, 43, has been serving as vice president of the New York State Agriculture Development Council. He is an economist specializing in development problems of Southeast Asian nations.

With 40,820 students on the East Lansing campus, MSU is Michigan's largest university and one of the 10 largest in the nation. Its presidency is an influential and prestigious post.

Selection of Dr. Whorter for the job represents a major breakthrough in the advance of black Americans to full citizenship. It is exactly the kind of recognition which can best produce solid achievement in the continuing struggle to ameliorate race relations.

Through their elected representatives, the people of Michigan are placing in Dr. Whorter's trust one of their most hallowed institutions and tens of thousands of their most prized possessions — their children. There can be no better statement of good faith.

For his part, Dr. Whorter will be shouldering a tremendous responsibility. He will have to prove that he has the acumen and finesse to handle a job that in these days of campus unrest and cost-conscious taxpayers requires greatness, or at least something very close to it.

At this point, it is impossible to tell whether Dr. Whorter is indeed the right man for the job. Only time can tell that — with him or anyone else who might have been appointed. But Dr. Whorter brings impressive academic credentials and excellent references. He also has going for him the fact that he is a young and physically handsome man.

If Fortune smiles, it may very well be that the date of his appointment — Oct. 17, 1969 — will become a landmark day in the history not only of U.S. education but race relations as well. Every conscientious citizen of Michigan will wish Dr. Whorter God speed.

There are a couple of unusual sidelights to his selection. First, it came the same week that another Negro, Dr. John Porter, was named acting superintendent of public instruction. There has already been complaint in some obvious quarters that naming Negroes to two high posts in one week was too much. The claim is that the timing of Dr. Whorter's appointment was poor. The answer to that, of course, is that for generations whites have been appointed to key posts in rapid succession with no one squawking.

A second interesting sidelight to the Whorter selection is the vote by which it came about.

In Michigan, Negroes (traditionally vote Democratic — the count usually runs about 90 per cent, some times even more.

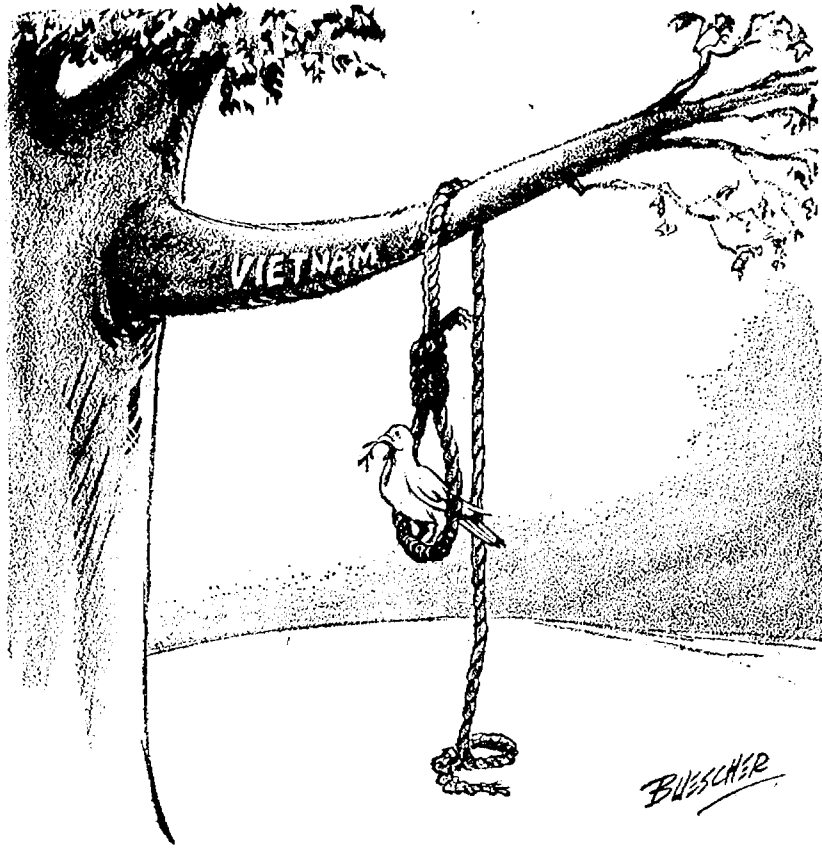

Ironically, it was the three Republicans on the MSU board who made Dr. Whorter's selection possible. All three GOP members voted for him. So did two Democrats. But three other Democrats voted no.

Political wags are saying the five-member majority found it easy to vote for Dr. Whorter when they considered the alternative might be Michigan's former Democratic Governor G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams.

Try And Stop Me

One of the best of the endless stream of jokes about intoxicated husbands trying to sneak into bed without arousing their terrible-tempered wives concerns the shrewd party who paused en route in the kitchen and laboriously tied all the pots, pans, and trays he could find to a rope. He then stumbled upstairs, dragging the rope behind him, and muttering happily to himself, "She'll never hear me in all this racket!"

Old-time baseball fans still talk about the excitement that prevailed every time Ty Cobb, great batting star of the Detroit Tigers, faced Walter Johnson, incomparable pitching ace of the Washington Senators. One day, Cobb, "the Georgia Peach," was called out on strikes with a pitch thrown so fast he never even saw it whiz by. "Where was it?" grumbled

Cobb to the umpire. "Smack over the middle of the plate," barked the ump. "Hmph," snorted Cob, determined to get the last word, "It sounded high to me!"

RELIGION TODAY

Why Radio Religion Remains So Dull

By REV. LESTER KINGSOLVING

"The broadcast industry has never exhibited much social conscience," affirms a recent article in the prestigious interdenominational weekly THE CHRISTIAN CENTURY.

"Historically it has preferred the conventional to the controversial," broadcasters annually give themselves awards for this or that public service. But on the whole, they leave crusading to the daily press."

The author of the Century article, Washington, D.C. public relations executive Sherwood Ross, contends that this is due in part to it being "simpler and less controversial to report events (ah, give us one more documentary on the race crisis!) than to try to change them."

He also notes that "It's easier to read a lot of church bazaar plugs than to produce a truly creative public service program" — adding that "good public service costs money."

The broadcast industry is actually obtaining a considerable amount of professional religious talent — in those clergy who for evangelism's sake are glad to broadcast for no pay at all, often in violation of union contracts. In Oakland, California, for instance, Metro-media's KNEW has had Methodist minister Douglas Henderson running a 6:00 to 9:00 a.m. Sunday talk show for the past eight years — without paying him anything but travel expense from his home in San Jose.

Despite the example of Rev. Henderson, there is money in religious broadcasting. As many as 600 radio stations have profited by selling time based on the right-wing reverence for people like Carl McIntire and Billy James Hargiss.

Otherwise, the broadcast industry's "concern" for religion may be explained for the most part by a six-page statement of the Federal Communications Commission on July 27, 1960. Religious programming was designated in this statement as one of 14 "major elements usually necessary to meet the public interest, needs and desires of the community."

Since the FCC has to choose among what may be several applicants for the same frequency, stations in their original applications for a license (or in the license renewal every three years) generally promise to allocate some time to religious programming. In the majority of cases however, such written promises are conveniently fulfilled by assigning religious programming to a time period known as either "God's Graveyard" or "The Hangover Hour": early (very early) Sunday morning.

Any Sunday morning programming, during or after this dawn patrol, has an effect described by TV writer John Bloch as "Incestuous — you're talking to yourself."

Bloch, the writer of a number of TV shows such as "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." and "Dr. Kildare," also comments: "I don't see what would attract unchurched people to church-sponsored shows."

While he might have made an exception of some religious shows (perhaps on the basis of Milton Berle's vivid remembrance of having to compete with Bishop Sheen), most listeners will agree that a considerable amount of religious programming is so deadly dull (safe enough to please all denominational and interdenominational officials) that it may be depended upon to smash the ratings of almost any station.

Instead of trying to interest the unchurched by the obviously questionable methods of broadcasting church, Bloch suggests that the churches and synagogues "spend some time and money working with writers, producers and directors, who put content into prime time evening viewing."

Under the religious denominations are willing to do this, most of their audiences will be confined to the religious shut-ins, as their programming will continue largely confined to the Sunday morning hour.

And if the churches and synagogues are still unwilling to allocate more time and money for the sake of effective electronic transmission of religion, the stations may well exclude the religious organizations altogether and plan religious broadcasting on their own.

A TV rerun of the movie "King of Kings" on Easter in 1967 should provide a sample of what could thereby be in store for religion. During the Last Supper scene, Christ's breaking of the bread was interrupted — deliberately and on cue — by a commercial for Triacton, which allegedly relieves acid indigestion.

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

An analogy is frequently drawn between the detective in fiction who attempts to solve a crime (and somehow always succeeds) and the declarer who can make a particular contract if he guesses correctly (and only sometimes succeeds).

Both are nearly always presented with sufficient data to solve the problems they face. The difficulty lies first in assembling the clues, the second in interpreting them correctly.

The card detective, like the crime detective, draws logical conclusions from the available evidence. Sometimes these conclusions create a certainty of success; sometimes there is merely a probability of success.

Consider this hand where South was in one trump. East won the heart lead with the king and shifted to the deuce of diamonds. South now had to make the right decision on which diamond to play from his hand. Had he followed low, East-West would have grabbed the first seven tricks.

But South drew several fine inferences. Only one trick had been played, but he already knew a great deal about the adverse hands.

It seemed certain from the play that the king of hearts was a singleton. This meant that West originally had A-Q-J-5. It was equally clear that East had the ace of diamonds, since West presumably would not have passed throughout holding the ace of diamonds and such a good heart suit.

So South went up with the king of diamonds and brought himself to six sure tricks. His remaining problem was to produce trick number seven. The only possible source for this lay in clubs, and had he simply cashed the A-K-Q he would have gone down.

But South had noted East's return of the diamond deuce, presumably showing a four-card suit. This meant that West also had four, thus marking him with nine cards in the red suits compared to five in the East hand. This in turn marked East with club length.

Following a straight probabilities, South therefore led a club to the ace, returned the nine, finessed, and thus made one trump.

Community Education Explained

Dr. Lewis Says
Special Classes
Should Remain

Dr. Mark Lewis, Benton Harbor superintendent of schools, said music, art and physical education have been part of community education for several years and to suspend them would be punitive.

Lewis commented in response to a statement by Robert Doner, that the community education classes be suspended until a hearing to clarify the matter. Doner noted that music, art and physical education aren't offered to elementary students as part of the regular curriculum.

At Monday's board of education meeting, Lewis said he would check on the matter with Gene McFadden, assistant superintendent for community education.

"Community education classes are held at six centers in the district. Their purpose is to respond to the needs and desires of the community," said Lewis. "These classes did not originate this year. They are a continuance."

NOT REGULAR FUNDS

Lewis added that community education is financed by federal and private funds that cannot be used for regular school operating purposes. Elementary art, music and physical education were dropped from the regular program this year to save money after two millage proposals were defeated during the summer.

Doner, a member of the school district's citizens advisory committee, mentioned specifically art, music and physical education classes at Fairplain East community school center. Fees are required for these classes.

Educators To Debate Parochial Aid Question

Event Tuesday At YMCA

The question, "Should Michigan tax funds be used for parochial schools?" will be argued at the second in a series of six lecture discussions to be held Tuesday, at 8:00 p.m. at the YMCA.

Arguing in support of financial assistance to private schools will be Mrs. Jacqueline Warr, coordinator and director of special programs, Catholic Diocese of Lansing, Office of Education.

'Over The Top'
Victory Dinner
Set Wednesday

With an important report day scheduled for Monday, United Community Fund has taken another major step toward its campaign goal of $587,468.

Jerry McKinney, UCF campaign chairman, today announced that UCF pledges now stand at $454,568, or 80 per cent of the goal. This is a $46,000 increase over the amount tabulated three days ago.

McKinney has called for an all-out effort by UCF volunteers to bring the drive "over the top" by the time the victory dinner is held next Wednesday night at Win Schuler's restaurant. The annual UCF celebration is being donated to UCF through the courtesy of Schuler's.

'NEED HELP'

"If we're going to reach the top by next Wednesday, we'll need the help of every one of our 1,200 volunteers," McKinney said. "Now is the time to clean up the work that has not been completed."

McKinney urged UCF workers to turn in pledges by 4 p.m. Monday at the UCF office, 305 Lake boulevard, St. Joseph. An official audit will be held next Tuesday and the results announced at the victory dinner.

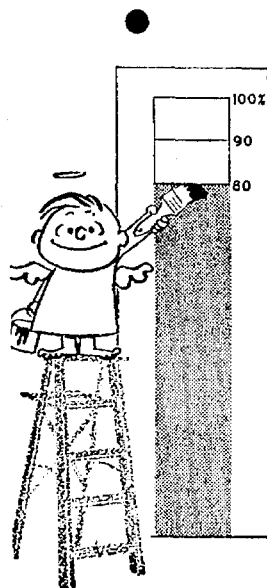

A number of new award-winning employee groups have helped to swell the UCF campaign total. The employees of 11 United Fund agencies have won Fair Share Giving Awards, the top UCF honor. This brings the total for the campaign to 27. The newest Fair Share winners are the employees of:

Houses Beyond Repair Doomed

BH To Wreck 30 Dwellings
In Hall Park Area

At least 30 homes in Benton Harbor's code enforcement area will come under the wrecker's hammer during the neighborhood improvement project, Leslie Cripps, city urban development director, said Thursday.

The houses, said Cripps, will be removed because it would cost too much to repair them. The code enforcement program had been billed originally as a non-demolition program by city officials to show the difference with an urban renewal-type approach.

Under urban renewal, the city buys property in a designated area and then clears it for resale and development under a federally approved plan. The federal government pays 75 per cent of the cost.

MUST COME DOWN

Under code enforcement, Cripps said the city does not buy the property but the houses may be ordered demolished because they cannot be brought up to required standards economically.

The same approach is being used elsewhere in the city where homes are found beyond repair, Cripps said.

Cripps said his office, which oversees the code program, was working closely with the Highland House and ARIC Homes, Inc., in relocating persons forced to move.

Most of the property rented under a federal rent-subsidy program, said Cripps, will be used for persons forced to move temporarily while repairs are made.

The houses being rented are leased from private owners for re-renting to families qualifying. The families are required to pay an amount similar to the amount they were paying previously for housing. The federal government pays the balance.

Cripps said, so far, the code enforcement program, was going pretty smoothly. The people, he said, were cooperating fully and some were calling in to request inspections so repairs could be started.

CAN GET FUNDS

An individual homeowner may receive a grant up to $3,000 as well as a loan to upgrade his dwelling. Income, family size and financial needs determine the applicants' qualifications and the amount made available. Cripps said one request for a combination grant and loan had already been submitted to the regional office of the federal agency. If approved, the homeowner would receive the maximum grant of $3,000 plus a $5,000 loan.

Cripps said he expects to know the outcome of the application by Nov. 1. At least 5-7 other applications are being prepared for submission, he said.

Violators Of Curfew Picked Up

Six juveniles were apprehended by Benton Harbor police early today for violation of the city's curfew law.

Three boys were picked up about 1:30 a.m. near Columbus avenue. Two of the youths were from St. Joseph, the other a Benton Harbor resident.

Three girls were taken into custody at 2:30 a.m. on Seeley street near Buss avenue.

The juveniles were taken to the police station and then turned over to their parents.

Sells Beer To Minor; Fined $45

Arrest Of Hotel
Worker Set Off
BH Rock Toss

A man charged with selling beer to a 14-year-old at a dance in the Vincent Hotel last Aug. 30, was convicted of the offense yesterday by Berrien Fifth District Judge Paul Pollard.

Qafali Hamdia, 24, a student from Kenosha, Wis., was found guilty by Judge Pollard and assessed $45 fine and $48 costs. An employee of the hotel, he was arrested and charged with furnishing intoxicants to a minor. Several rock-throwing incidents and acts of vandalism followed the move by Benton Harbor police to close down the dance.

PLEADS INNOCENT

Also in Fifth District court, Calvin Bradley, 17, of 221 South McCord street, Benton Harbor, was released on his own recognizance after he pleaded innocent to contributing to the delinquency of two minors. Bradley allegedly enticed two boys, 15 and 16 years old, to stay away from home without consent of their parents until after midnight and in violation of the curfew.

Two persons demanded examination on a charge that they stole a $109 check for aid to dependent children (ADC). Charged with larceny in a building were Nathaniel Lee Kemp, 17, of 975 Buss and Winston J. Taylor, 21, of 942 Buss, Benton Harbor. They were arrested after a neighbor reported seeing a man remove an envelope from the mailbox of Hattie Page, 19, of 1008 Buss. Bond for each was set at $1,500.

Joe West Salley, Jr., 22, of 376 High street, Benton Harbor, demanded examination on a charge of possessing a stolen Ford motor and two tires. Bond was set at $1,000.

CHARGE REDUCED

Joseph T. McLaughlin, of Munster, Ind., pleaded guilty to driving while visibly impaired by intoxicants and was assessed $75 fine and $78 costs. On motion of the prosecutor, the charge was reduced from driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Allen Dean Shirley, 27, of 909 Cooper street, Michigan City, Ind., was assessed $153 for driving under the influence of intoxicants, and jailed three days and assessed $75 for driving while his operator's license was suspended.

Clancy Gosnell, 51, of Marion, Ind., was assessed $27 for careless driving and $15 for driving with an expired operator's license.

Child Hit By Car; Injuries Not Serious

A four-year-old Benton township child escaped serious injury Friday afternoon when he ran into the path of a car on Main street in the township and was hit.

Benton township police said Jerry Allen, son of Mrs. Betty Blackwell, 379 Burton street, Benton township, was released after treatment at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor.

Kathleen Ann Strunk, 21, Kalamazoo, driver of the car was not held. She said she was driving west on Main near Walnut when the youth ran from across the road in front of her car.

LAKESHORE COMEBACK SHATTERS CASS, 26-6

By JOHN VANDEN HEED
Staff Sports Writer

CASSOPOLIS — Lakeshore's patented second-half comeback blew aside Cassopolis 26-6 in a showdown for the Blossomland lead here Friday night.

After trailing 6-0 at halftime, the Lancers exploded behind fullback Mark Tollas and quarterback Jay Craig to make a rout of a game spoiled by 259 yards in penalties.

Cassopolis coach Neil McLaughlin's Lancers have now won five straight for sole possession of the Blossomland lead on a 5-0 record with two games to go.

Cassopolis' loss ended a five-game winning streak and left the Rangers second in the conference at 4-1.

"Even at halftime I thought we were in control of the ball game," commented McLaughlin. "It was just a matter of getting our offense going."

Lakeshore took the lead for good the first time it got the ball in the second half with a 76-yard march in seven plays which included two major penalties against the Rangers.

Key plays were first down runs of 19 yards by halfback Tom Jewell and 13 yards by Tollas, who also went the final five yards for the touchdown.

Craig skirted his right end for the two-point conversion which put the Lancers on top 8-6.

Lakeshore then fumbled the ball away the next two times they were in control to run their game total to a damaging five.

And after the second one, Cassopolis missed a golden opportunity to take the lead and change the complexion of the game because of another 15-yard walkoff.

Ranger Bill Austin, a consistent PAT kicker this season, was set for a field goal attempt from the Lancer 16, but anxious teammates along the sidelines went beyond the 35-yard line limit and the officials promptly marched off 15 yards to erase the threat.

Lakeshore took over after that fiasco and put together its only real march of the evening of 75 yards in 10 plays. Craig went one-yard on a sneak for the touchdown, after over-coming a pair of five-yard penalties on passes of 16 yards to Greg Rodewald and 25 yards to Dan Rosenhagen. The aerial to Rosenhagen gave the Lancers a first down on the one.

The penalty situation got on the ridiculous side when the Lancers got the ball back minutes later after a Ranger punt.

Lakeshore was faced with a fourth and 34 from their own 37 and Rodewald punted. But officials spotted a pair of 15-yard infractions against Cass, so the Lancers then had a fourth-and-four at the Ranger 35.

Tollas ran for the first down and scored five plays later on a nine-yard burst to make it 20-6.

The Lancers' final touchdown came on the last play of the game as Craig intercepted a desperation pass by Jeff Hienstra and returned it 70 yards to paydirt.

Cassopolis scored on the first series of the game on a five-yard plunge by fullback Oscar Lee. It followed a lost fumble on the kickoff by Lakeshore's Dave Zuhl.

The final penalty toll included 25 walkoffs, including three twin infractions of 30 yards each. It all led one Lakeshore follower to comment: "I never

Undefeated Vikings 'Skip' Past Tigers

By JIM DeLAND
Sports Editor

The Niles Vikings took a giant step toward a perfect football season by "skipping" over their biggest hurdle Friday night.

The golden toe of Skip Miller and the defensive heroics of linebacker Jeff Jackel carried the Vikings to a 7-6 victory over Benton Harbor before a disappointed homecoming throng at Filstrup Field and left Niles only three steps from an undefeated campaign.

"This was the big one," Niles coach Ed Weede said of the victory, which kept alive the possibility of the first unbeaten season in his 11-year tenure as head coach. "It was a good one to get by."

The Vikings achieved the victory with only limited service from ace halfback Craig Riley, who went out with an injured knee in the second quarter and never returned to action.

"Sure we missed him . . .

he's been carrying about 25 times a game," Weede said. "The Benton Harbor doctor advised us not to use him . . . and I'm glad we didn't have to."

Miller and Jackel made sure of that.

Miller, who gave the Vikings a 3-0 victory over Jackson Lumen Christi with a 26-yard field goal two weeks ago, scored his team's only touchdown in the third quarter and then coolly kicked the conversion through a quartering wind for what proved to be the decisive point.

But it was Jackel who actually did the most damage to the Tigers when he crashed through the Benton Harbor line to block Jim Grannell's attempted kick for the tying point later in the third period.

"He's the one who killed us," Benton Harbor coach Les Butgereit said of Jackel, who also launched the Vikings' scoring thrust with a pass interception, set up the TD with a pass reception and broke Benton Harbor's back with another interception in the waning minutes of the game.

Benton Harbor's lone touchdown came on a sparkling 26-yard run by tailback Don Hopkins with less than two minutes remaining in the third period, but it went for naught when Jackel blocked the conversion attempt.

It was the first conversion kick attempted all season by the Tigers, who have been without the services of Grannell for the past four games because of a fractured thumb.

"I was sure we would score again," Butgereit explained of his decision to go for a tying kick rather than a pass or run that could have put the Tigers ahead. "We were moving the ball and I felt sure we'd score when we got the wind at our backs in the fourth quarter."

But the Tigers never got close.

Their only real opportunity came with about five minutes remaining in the game when they stopped Niles at its own 18 and forced the Vikings to punt. Mick Kidwell's kick into the wind carried out to the Niles 45, but the Vikings were called for illegal procedure and could have been forced to punt again with

Northern Dashes St. Joseph's Big Six Hopes, 6-3

Prediction By Higgs Comes True

By JAKE SHUBINSKI
Staff Sports Writer

Dick Higgs, St. Joseph's head football coach for 12 years and now principal at Portage Northern high school, announced to the press box crew at Dickinson Stadium Friday night that they were about to watch the best losing ball club he had seen in a number of years.

Higgs, and some 3,000 St. Joseph fans plus about 100 Husky boosters on the far side of the field, then sat back and watched Northern score a 6-3 victory that killed any hopes the Bears might have had for another share of the Big Six conference championship.

The Huskies, who had lost three straight games . . . including a 33-20 loss to Niles and a 20-6 beating at the hands of unbeaten and fifth-rated class B Sturgis . . . scored in the final seconds of the half to earn their victory.

The sure-footed place kicking and running of Mark Engelhardt gave the Bears a 3-0 lead with 2:14 left in the first period as the Bears drove from their own 20 to the Northern 15 where they were faced with a fourth-and-five and a stiff wind.

Holder John Spielman took the snap from center and placed the ball down on the Northern 22 and Engelhardt booted against a strong wind that was blowing across the field. The kick split the uprights and the Bears enjoyed a 3-0 lead.

Engelhardt gained 41 yards in the drive, including 23 on a 15-yard pass to Don Schick.

Northern's drive for its touchdown sort of slipped up on Bears fans. The Huskies had taken over on their own 30 after stopping a St. Joseph scoring drive following a 15-yard penalty that gave the Bears a first down at the Northern 23.

threat that was made possible when Wayne Shipman recovered a fumble on the Northern 29.

The drive started slowly enough with Tim Cashen hitting the St. Joseph line for two yards. But then Ken Mease took over the quarterback duties from regular signal caller Rocky Manuel and started to move the Huskies through the air.

He completed three passes for 22 yards, the last of which gave Northern a first down at the 27. The next pass was incomplete, then came a screen toss to Steve Davis who was standing all alone at the 25. He ran a few yards to his right, then cut back and raced untouched into the Bears end zone with the clock showing 49 seconds left in the half. Shipman broke up the run for the extra points with a tackle behind the line of scrimmage.

The Bears, who ran only three plays from scrimmage and a punt in the third quarter, finally got rolling in the final period and appeared to be about ready to pull it out. But a clipping penalty did them in.

The Bears had driven from their own 12 to the Northern 22 where they were faced with a fourth and four with just under three minutes left.

Dennis Patzer threw a pass in the left flat to Bill Hamilton who bulled his way to the Northern eight. It would have been a first down but a clip was thrown at the 13 and the ball moved back to the 28. The next play lost two yards and the Huskies took over.

The Bears then failed to capitalize on a fumble recovery by Ed Miller at the Portage 34 with 1:29 left in the game. Hamilton got 10 yards, then lost a yard before Dick Hildebrand intercepted a pass to end St. Joseph hopes.

"We should have won that game 3-0," said St. Joseph coach Ike Muhlenkamp who for the first time this season blamed his defense for a loss.

"They pushed us all over the field," Muhlenkamp said and to prove a point noted that the Huskies got by with two fourth down plays in the third quarter that moved them from their own 46 to the Bears' 17 where a fourth and one run was stopped short of its goal.

After the Bears ran three plays and punted, the Huskies again used running plays through the St. Joseph line to move from their own 36 to the Bears 12 where Engelhardt broke up a fourth down pass.

Northern coach Bud Breed made all the right moves, one of which was calling on Mike Rose to take the place of the injured Mike Hope in the Huskie backfield.

Rose had not played a minute of offensive ball this season, but Friday night, gained 66 yards in 14 carries. Steve Davis, a replacement for Pat Walters in the last two games, picked up 55 yards in 14 carries.

Breed explained the switch of quarterbacks by saying, "Mease in practice is a little quicker with his handoffs and throws a better short pass than Rocky so I thought I'd give him a try."

Prior to last night's game, Mease had run the club on only "about 15" offensive plays.

Engelhardt finished the night with 92 yards rushing in 18 carries and Hamilton picked up 55 yards in 15 attempts, including 50 yards in the second half.

The defeat was the second in a row for the Bears after four straight victories and leaves them with a 2-2 league record. Northern is 1-2 in the conference and 3-3 overall.

But other Mustang runners had their problems as the Buck defense clipped 77 yards off the final River Valley offensive total with bone-cracking line play.

River Valley drew first blood when Turley scored on a three-yard run with 5:22 left in the half. The TD was set up by a pass from Dave Turley to Gary Lozmack that put the ball on the Buchanan six. A penalty then moved the ball half the distance to the goal.

Late in the second period, Buchanan linebacker Derrell

Chappell recovered a fumble on the Valley 34. The payoff play came with 25 seconds left in the half when Steve Berry hit Ron Aalfs with a 28-yard scoring pass. Aalfs then kicked the first of his two extra points.

The Bucks went ahead with 3:49 left in the third period when John Gorbitz covered the final eight yards after tackle Dave Hassan recovered a fumble.

The final quarter was only 90 seconds old when the Mustangs tallied on a nine yard run by Turley. River Valley went for two, but Bob Fox was thrown for a loss on the attempted run conversion.

Buchanan stopped River Valley four times inside its own 10 yard line during the game with the help of three fumble recoveries.

This could have robbed the Vikings of a potential first down, but as it turned out Riley was stopped cold on a fourth-down run from the two and Benton Harbor successfully weathered the rest of the half.

Benton Harbor elected to receive the kickoff rather than take the wind advantage at the start of the second half and the decision backfired when Jackel pulled off his fourth interception of the season at the Tiger 19.

On the Vikings' first play he broke over the middle and took a pass from Miller down to the five-yard line, and two plays later Miller went four yards up the middle on a sneak for the TD.

The quarterback sneak was the Viking's most effective weapon against the Tiger defense and Miller ended the game as his team's leading rusher with 58 yards in 18 carries. Hopkins led Benton Harbor with the same yardage in 14 tries.

President Asks Labor, Business For Restraint

Prescribes 'Bitter Medicine'

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is sending personal fight-inflation appeals to 2,200 leaders of business and labor—his first concerted effort to solicit wage-price restraint.

The White House said letters from the President will be mailed Monday as a followup to his nationwide radio address in which he asked all citizens to "bear the burden of restraint in their personal credit and purchasing decisions, so as to reduce the pressures that help drive prices out of sight."

Nixon said Friday the administration is prescribing "bitter medicine" in an effort to hold down living costs, and:

"I can report to you that the medicine has begun to work. There will be no overnight cure, but we are on the road to recovery from the disease of runaway prices."

In his address, Nixon called on labor "to base their wage demands on the new prospect of a return toward price stability." He urged businessmen "to base their investment and price decisions on that new economic plan."

MIXED REACTION

But the message was beamed mainly at housewives, and they showed mixed reaction.

"I'm afraid the speech sounded too much like sweet talk," said a skeptical Mrs. Judith Pagan in Dover, N.J.

"I think he knows what he is doing," said Mrs. Lee Lane, a Nixon supporter in Atlanta, Ga. "His proposals will cut down on the amount of money you have to spend."

The President spoke a few hours after announcing a major personnel change in the economic-financial area.

Big Shop Center Due At Kalamazoo

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Plans to construct a $10 million Kalamazoo shopping center was announced Friday by Forbes-Cohen Corp. of Detroit. Construction is to begin next March and completion is scheduled by August, 1971.

Sidney Forbes, president of the development corporation, said the center would include 65 stores and would feature outlets of Montgomery Ward & Co. and Wurzberg's of Grand Rapids.

Original plans were to call the shopping center Kalamazoo Mall, but Alfred V. Heilman, a Kalamazoo businessman, obtained a temporary restraining order in circuit court against use of that name.

Heilman argued that Kalamazoo Mall would lead to confusion, since most persons refer to the 10-year-old downtown Burdick Street Mall as the Kalamazoo Mall.

Circuit Judge Wade Van Valkenburg set a hearing for Nov. 10 on Heilman's plea for a permanent injunction. Forbes hinted at a news conference another name might be adopted before the scheduled court hearing.

Arthur F. Burns, an Austrian-born economist who has been counsellor to the President since January, is to become chairman of the powerful Federal Reserve Board Jan. 31 when William McChesney Martin retires. The board is an independent agency responsible for setting policies that determine how much money will be available for loans.

Martin, chairman of the board for the past 18 years, was barred by law from serving another term. Burns, 65, will be nominated for a 14-year tenure.

LAUDS MARTIN

In a statement, Nixon paid tribute to the 62-year-old Martin and said: "Dr. Burns has been known for many years as a strong and effective leader in the fight against both inflation and recession."

At the time of the announcement Burns, Martin and Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy were in Hot Springs, Va., meeting with the nation's top industrialists to seek their support for the administration policy. Kennedy told a meeting of the Business Council it is too early to ease restraints.

Kennedy later told reporters the administration had received assurance of cooperation from many industry leaders.

One Business Council member, William A. Hewitt, board chairman of Deere & Co. Moline, Ill., said he strongly endorsed Nixon's program for extension of the surtax, continued budget restraint and postponement of public works.

In his radio address, Nixon said his administration has supported the Federal Reserve Board "in its policy of keeping money hard to borrow." When too much is borrowed, he said, "this money is simply used to bid prices up higher."

MORE TIGHT MONEY

Talking to newsmen at the White House earlier, Burns said he anticipated that tight money policies would continue "for the present."

Nixon, claiming notable progress in the battle against inflation, said:

"You can make your plans on the basis that price rises are going to be slowed down."

He did not forecast a price decline, at least immediately, but rather a slower rate of price increases.

Moreover, he said, the programs to cool off the economy will adversely affect some industries and individuals.

"As we gently, but firmly, apply the brakes," he said, "we are going to experience some 'slowing pains.' Just like growing pains, these are a healthy development, but painful, nevertheless."

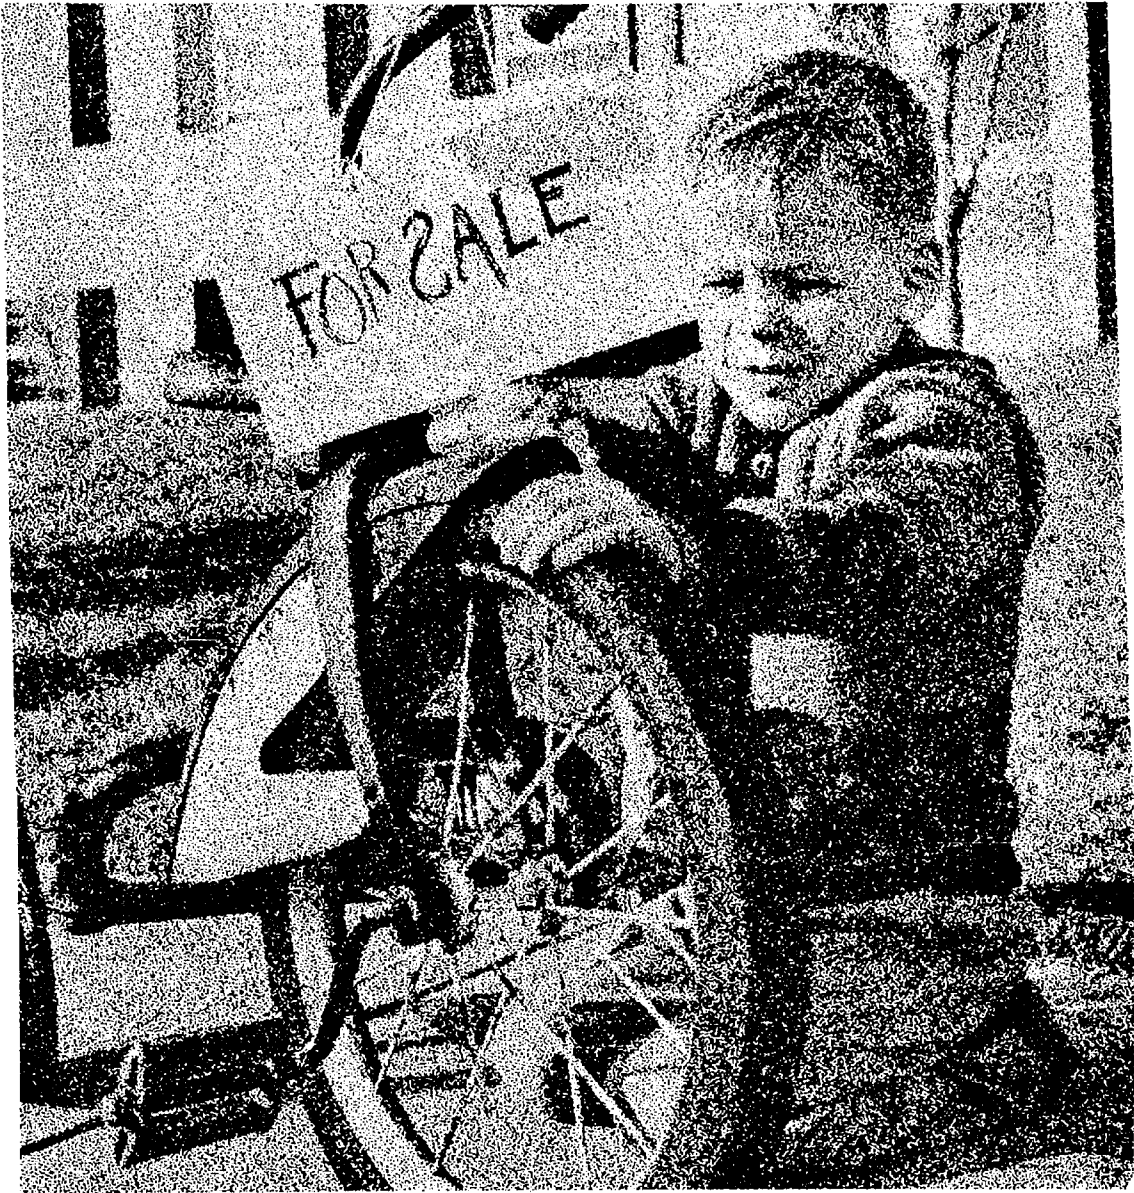

He promised to keep a close watch on the unemployment rate, saying he disagreed with those who claim a high rate of unemployment is inevitable because the government is fighting inflation by putting a lid on federal spending while seeking an extension of higher taxes.

"We intend to do everything we can to resist increases in unemployment," he said.

The chief executive ruled out resort to wage or price controls and said he would not put government "into the business of telling the working man how much he should charge for his services, or how much the businessman should charge for his goods."

It was apparent he intended to phrase his letter appeal to business and labor in general terms without making any effort to restore wage-price guidelines of the type abandoned three years ago.
